4	If not, received and filed. Any Clerk's
5	notes?
6	MS. REED: Nothing, Mr. McGoff.
7	MR. MCGOFF: A couple of
8	announcements prior to the meeting. First
9	of all, City Hall will be closed this 10	Friday, April 3. Also, Monday, April 6 is a
11	holiday for the DPW, refuse and recycling
12	collection will be delayed by one day, that
13	will be next week.
14	Also, next week at our meeting there
15	will be a public caucus at 5:30 to discuss
16	land banks. There will be a representative
17	from the Pennsylvania Housing Alliance that 18	will make a presentation and, again, it will 19	be held here in council chambers and anyone
20	interested in the land bank concept please
21	feel free to attend. And that's all I have 22	for announcements. Anything?
23	MR. ROGAN: I have one. This is
24	from State Rep Marty Flynn's Office and it
25	was also on WNEP. It says I'm pleased to

1	announce the deadline for Pennsylvania Low
2	Income Energy Heating Assistance Program,
3	known as LIHEAP, has been extended from May 4	1 - extended to May 1. The previous
5	deadline was April 3. LIHEAP helps income
6	eligible households to pay for heat during 7	the winter months and a family of four with 8	an annual income of up to $35,775 can
9	qualify for this assistance.
10	For more information call the 11	Lackawanna County Assistance Office at 12	570-963-4842. Thank you.
13	MR. MCGOFF: Anyone else?
14	MS. REED: FOURTH ORDER. CITIZENS
15	PARTICIPATION.
16	MR. MCGOFF: Ron Ellman.
17	MR. ELLMAN: Thank you, council.
18	Look who is running this city besides you,
19	three men that they don't live here, they
20	don't vote here, they don't pay taxes here,
21	that's who is running our city. Last week I 22	asked you about Mr. Amoroso and I have been 23	told he is being paid to stay here. This 24	man he is being paid to stay here. He 25	didn't even know about the pension plan, he

1 has done nothing in the world about the 2 nonprofits and now we are supposed to be saddled with someone like that again? 3 And he has got a garbage plan, it's not a plan 4 5 for the future of this city. If these businessmen knew what people say about 6 7 what's going on here maybe they would quit 8 paying him to hang onto the -- and tell us 9 we need to raise taxes and everything. He 10 is so out of touch with this city it's a 11 It's an outright shame that somebody shame. 12 like this has any authority over people that 13 vote that people that work here. 14 All right. I got that off my --MR. MCGOFF: You want me to get you 15 16 angry? 17 MR. ELLMAN: When I leave. 18 MR. MCGOFF: Okay. 19 MR. ELLMAN: I'm not attacking you. 20 MR. MCGOFF: No, no, I was just 21 going to give you some more ammunition. 22 I read that MR. ELLMAN: All right. 23 little brief article in the paper about 24 Mr. Durkin who says, you know, the mall and 25 downtown are getting beyond help, I have to agree with the article and some of the things he says, but when I stood here a couple of months ago and said that would make a marketplace I never been to the example he has, but I know the example in Allentown which is what 110 and 10 or 15,000, it is packed. You just have to go through crowds every time I have been there. And outside of the Pottstown, I think it's Schuylkill Haven.

MR. EVANS: Schuylkill.

MR. ELLMAN: That's only 20, 25,000 people, this is out of town and it's the same way and it's bigger than the mall when you go. They have an auction and they have a big flea market when the weather is warm and it would work downtown. I just don't know how you get it started, and I don't know what happened to these people that picked up the ball and didn't do nothing with it but I wish they would get it rejuvenated. It's a shame to lose it to the nonprofits, and I'd like to say something about the paving, why are we -- who gave us Main Avenue? You said that we are supposed

	8
1	to be responsible for Main Avenue last week,
2	I never saw nothing come up that it's
3	legally ours?
4	MR. ROGAN: It's a very small
5	portion of Main Avenue.
6	MR. ELLMAN: I'm talking about the 7	paving, you know, of Main we got streets
8	in the city we can spend, you are talking
9	about a couple of hundred thousands dollars
10	that they last year they said they were 11	going to do. We got streets of our own, let 12	them do it.
13	MR. ROGAN: That portion is going to 14	be paved by PennDOT from the Taylor line to 15	the Scranton Expressway will be paved by 16	PennDOT this year.
17	MR. ELLMAN: The paper said from
18	Parker Street or Main Avenue or someplace
19	up
20	MR. ROGAN: Right, that portion.
21	MR. ELLMAN: We shouldn't have to 22	pave an inch of it. This is their problem,
23	they don't patrol it or nothing, you know,
24	they don't take care of it, they should, and 25	I'll tell you something else, as long as this city allows 80,000 pound tractor trailers to go any place they want you are not going to have any good streets. The base -- the foundation of these streets it's over 100 years old. You can see on North Main Avenue in the potholes it's gravel and bricks under there. It's not made for truck traffic like. You got certain designated routes like Keyser Avenue or something you can't have trucks delivering downtown blocking Washington and Adams delivering pizza crusts and things like that, it needs -- I don't know who is in charge of it but something ought to be done, like I said, 80,000 pound trucks are not delivery vehicles. And I'd like to -- let me just say one thing in leaving, several years ago I one thing in leaving, several years ago I stood here and said we need a curfew. I'd like to say it again and I'd like to say we should have some kind of city ordinance about carrying handguns. I heard a conversation a few days ago a 12 year old showing off a handgun. That's what we got going on. It's getting worse, not better.

1	I mean, I have a friend that I work with in 2	Wilkes-Barre and he's sort of gang related
3	and tells me these things what's going on 4	and there is some bad things going on in 5	this city full of undesirable children, I
6	guess you could call them, that don't go to 7	school or nothing, they don't contribute
8	nothing to society and nothing is being done
9	about it. Thank you Mr. McGoff.
10	MR. MCGOFF: You're welcome.
11	MR. GAUGHAN: Thank you.
12	MR. MCGOFF: Just before
13	Mr. Hodowanitz comes to the podium, I did
14	want to give Mr. Ellman a little ammunition
15	for next week, the HJA Strategies, which is 16	the firm, the consulting firm which
17	Mr. Henry Amoros is HJA, they are being 18	funded through several foundations through 19	the Chamber of Commerce for years 2015 and 20	2016, so that's this year and next year they 21	are being they are being paid through the 22	Chamber of Commerce through a number of 23	foundations.
24	MR. ELLMAN: Well, I don't want to 25	be a

MR. MCGOFF:No, please, pleasenext week.Next week.Let Ms.HodowanitzHodowanitzMR. ELLMAN:All right.

	you.
4 MR. ELLMAN: All right. Thank	you.
5 MR. MCGOFF: Thank you, Mr. Ell	man.
6 MS. HODOWANITZ: Joan Hodowanit	Ζ,
7 resident and taxpayer. The 2013 audit	is 8 now 305 days overdue, does anyone have	its 9 current status?
10 MR. MCGOFF: At the PEL meeting	on 11 Monday it was Mr. Bulzoni, the business 12 administrator, said another letter had	been 13 sent to the auditors for the completion	of 14 the audit, everything from the city's s	ide
15 has been in the hands of the auditor fo	r a
16 period of time now. It's in the audito	r's
17 hands and they are being, what do I wan	t to 18 say, slow in producing the audit.
19 MS. HODOWANITZ: Okay. Last Fr	iday
20 I went to the opening of the bids for t	he 21 audits for 2014 through 2017, there was	only one bid from SB & Company, LLC, with of	fices
23 in Philadelphia and Maryland and they p	ut in a bid proposal of $172,000 for the four 25 years, although, they are only going to 12

1	charge $40,000 for the 2014 audit. That may
2	sound like a lot of money, but I wish them a
3	lot of luck considering the state of our 4	financial records and the fact that we don't
5	have the 2013 audit.
6	I looked them up on the web and they
7	have a lot of interesting marketing buzz.
8	"We promise that our most experienced
9	personnel will remain involved through the 10	entire engagement providing ongoing,
11	year-round consultation at no extra cost."
12	Be careful what you ask for or 13	what you promise. "In addition to insuring
14	quick issue resolution, our professionals
15	will provide valuable updates from their
16	involvement in industry and standards
17	setting organizations. We'll help assure
18	compliance with applicable reporting
19	standards, correct deficiencies and provide 20	insight to address important present and 21	future challenges. If your organization
22	expends more than $500,000 in federal funds,
23	we'll perform a rigorous compliance based 24	audit of those transactions using our
25	extensive government and not-for-profit expertise."

2	What I'm waiting to see is, I'm
3	going to try and get a copy of the 4	engagement letter, I would see if the city
5	does choose them as its auditor, and I guess
6	it's got a field of one to choose from, what 7	it's going to tell them it wants done and 8	what kind of deadline you are going to give 9	this auditor. Are we going to expect him to 10	finish the audit by May 31 of this year?
11	You need to change the Home Rule Charter.
12	You might as well clean that homework up.
13	That's housekeeping, but I would change it,
14	but you need a reasonable drop dead date and 15	if the auditor doesn't meet it he needs to 16	show cause why he can't meet the date. In 17	other words, produce the audit or get off
18	the dime and let somebody else take up the 19	challenge. None of this a year overdue.
20	This is ridiculous. It doesn't do the city
21	any good, it doesn't do the taxpayers any
22	good, it's going to have more of an impact
23	that you realize.
24	And then we find out we have all
25	kind of financial issues, no audit trail, no

	14
1	pun intended, for things that happened in
2	the past, we have got to get this act
3	together. I would expect leadership of this 4	city to be kicking doors at this point in 5	time. Thank you.
6	MR. MCGOFF: Thank you, Ms.
7	Hodowanitz. Anyone else who wishes to 8	address council?
9	MR. DOBRZYN: Good evening, Council.
10	Dave Dobrzyn, resident and taxpayer. Once
11	again I'd like to go through the working
12	life of my wife and I and how various things
13	negatively effected, all of which was 14	private sector employment. In 1974 I was in 15	the automotive-related industries and we had 16	the OPEC oil embargo. In '79, we had the 17	hostage crisis. In '83, Dave Stockman,
18	economic advisor to President Reagan, called 19	the jobs the automotive industry an 20	expensive job's program. In '85 we decided 21	to build nuclear power plants in China to 22	ease apparel restrictions. The typical wage
23	in the plants in the area was about what 24	minimum wage was today, seven and a quarter,
25	seven fifty an hour and that was a lot more money back then, needless to say, well, a year later I told her don't even go any there anymore. Don't bother, 52 bucks for showing up four days. In 1991, once again, we had the first Gulf war started and everybody kicks the Dom and, yeah, he was a bad person but the people he is fighting with also in the 80's which we are supplying both sides weren't any better as it has been shown to this very day.

Then in '98 we adopted China's most favorite trade status, nation status, that really helped jobs a lot in this country, and then we had 9/11. Then in '05 we had a few South American countries that we formed trade agreements with, and in '07 we had the crash, that effected everybody's wages all around, and then in '11, so that we could extend unemployment benefits for all of these poor jerks that were out of work thanks to our lovely trade packs and trade agreements we had another trade agreement with Korea and Panama and Columbia and, of course, it wasn't a big trade pack, but the quid pro quo was we will extend unemployment benefits for the currently unemployed if, if you pass this trade pack. Well, last year we exported 40,000 cars to Korea and we accepted $450,000 cars, ten cents on the dollar. Geez, thanks, guys.

Okay, back to city business. Now, I spoke a little bit about paving and I am not criticizing the DPW for anything, but I feel that at least 50 percent, if not more, of our bad roads are caused by utility companies coming in here, digging and putting inferior workmanship into their patches, and then a year or two later you see where they cut the pave, the sealer has gone away and the water is getting in under it and then you have a big pothole. Big gapping pothole, that's called externalization. You externalize your liabilities to enhance your profits.

On the Sewer Authority with that storm sewer business, now currently not everybody is paying the same rate, I mean, a commercial rate is different than the consumer rate, but you are -- a part of your storm water bill right now is because people

3	or eight, something like that, when did
4	those figures go in?
5	MR. MCGOFF: I have no idea.
6	MS. SCHUMACHER: Okay. Wayne, could
7	you ask that?
8	MR. EVANS: Yeah.
9	MS. SCHUMACHER: And last week at 10	the end I said I was going to review the 11	paving list because I thought East Mountain
12	was getting shortchanged, I believe there is 13	confirmation of that. I travel five days
14	a week I travel both directions from my home
15	to the Howard Gardner School and the East
16	Mountain Road East Mountain Lake Road is 17	atrocious. Now, I have a low car and there
18	is all kinds of problems, there is drainage
19	problems, there is paving problems, there
20	are apparently drainage, because it's 21	wetlands along there, taking the water down
22	to the street that have corroded maybe and 23	collapsed or maybe it's just traffic. I
24	don't know what the weight limit is, but we 25	do get Colt's buses and school buses on that

	19
1	road and the one they finally did come up by
2	Yeso and put in a steel plate on Monday, but 3	the road needs serious the sides are 4	deteriorating and that certainly needs to be 5	attended to sooner rather than later.
6	And that brings up the liquid fuels
7	dollars what have been doing with the liquid
8	fuel dollars for the past several years?
9	Nobody knows.
10	MR. MCGOFF: I don't know that it
11	was dedicated to any particular
12	MS. SCHUMACHER: By statute, state
13	statute, you have to there are things you
14	have to invest in, paving or buying trucks
15	or
16	MR. MCGOFF: Like I said, I'm not
17	sure.
18	MS. SCHUMACHER: I mean, I would
19	like to know. Also, the budget this year
20	was lowballed, which I appreciate rather
21	than going way over, but the allocations are
22	now available from the state and I didn't
23	bring the exact figures, but it's roughly a
24	half a million dollars. Now, I would like
25	to know how we are going to apply that half,

20 the extra half a million dollars of the 1 2 actual we are going to get over the budget, and are we going to alter the budget to show 3 that? 4 5 And then Mr. Amoroso, you know, this 6 administration promised us transparency and, 7 I'm sorry, but this shell game of having 8 anonymous people supply a person to be a 9 consultant I think is wrong and it's bad 10 enough that this person because not employed 11 by the city is not subject to any 12 Right-to-Know issues for and I am calling 13 for the identification of the foundations 14 that are providing this two year's worth of funding. I think it's important for the 15 16 public and the taxpayers to know who is 17 putting forth this money so we can make the 18 judgment on whether or not that money 19 influencing any of the outcomes that 20 Mr. Amoroso may come up with. 21 And then last year the state bought 22 us some software, which I thought was for 23 efficiencies, can anybody tell me what 24 software was procured and how it was 25 supposed to better the running of our

1	government?
2	MR. MCGOFF: At this point in time,
3	I don't have that in front of me.
4	MS. SCHUMACHER: Could we get that?
5	I would be interested. And then what is our 6	policy for the our city engineer when there
7	is a conflict of interest? For instance, I
8	really think that our city engineer should 9	be looking at some of the issues with the 10	landfill especially, I give you the pictures
11	and the same contractor for the engineering
12	for the landfill is also the employer of our 13	city engineer, which brings forth a conflict
14	of interest if the city were to get 15	involved, so what is the policy when a 16	conflict of interest arises as to who would 17	perform that and how that would be 18	determined? Anybody know?
19	MR. MCGOFF: No, I don't. I don't
20	have that in front of me.
21	MS. SCHUMACHER: Again
22	MR. MCGOFF: I don't have that data
23	in front of me.
24	MS. SCHUMACHER: I would appreciate
25	that, also. Thank you.

23	MR. MCGOFF: Anyone else who wishes

25	Schumacher, just to answer a question that

1	you did ask, I searched it, I did find an 2	e-mail and it was dated March 19 and it was 3	sent from the business administrator to the 4	auditor and it said, "Latest update is that 5	the attorney letters have been received and 6	will be forwarded to you, GASB report is 7	completed, and waiting release which will be
8	no later than Tuesday, and it goes on then 9	to say that when all of this is received we
10	will expect a release of the, you know,
11	comprehensive draft of the audit no later
12	than month end.
13	MS. SCHUMACHER: Than when?

15	it was sent.

19	MR. MCGOFF: Mr. Wechsler?
20	MR. WECHSLER: Thank you,
21	Mr. McGoff. I just have a few things this
22	evening. Last week we spent some time
23	talking about the garbage fee bills, I was 24	in contact with Wayne Beck this week and 25	according to him they are going through some testing to make sure that the mailing -- the barcodes coordinate with the PNC lockbox, so right now he is anticipating that the bills should be mailed out some time early next week -- or the garbage tax. That puts us about seven to ten days ahead of last year's mailing.

I also had been in contact with the Northeast Revenue Service, I will be meeting with them on Monday just to go over some facts about how we established the mailing list for the garbage bills and also going through how we may improve the reporting process as we can keep track of it as it proceeds through the year, so those things will be happening next week.

I received a comment and a complaint about a street in South Side, 1400 block of South Irving Avenue. I will be forwarding this list onto the mayor and DPW. It's a streets -- a lot of areas that hasn't seen paving in quite a number of years and it's past the point of being repaired by patches.

> In regards to Mountain Lake Road and East Mountain Road, I spoke with the mayor

1	and the other day, those roads are going to 2	be repaired once the weather clears up by 3	the city. They are going to be worked on 4	independent of the current paving program.
5	In regards to the paving program, we 6	also have reached out to make sure that 7	utilities, the streets are matched with 8	utility work that's going to be going on 9	with both the gas company and water company
10	and the Scranton Sewer Authority so we are 11	trying to make sure that we are working on 12	streets that aren't going to be paved by the 13	utilities and also making sure that we 14	aren't going to put paving on streets that 15	may be torn up a few weeks later. That's 16	all I have this evening.
17	MR. MCGOFF: Mr. Rogan?
18	MR. ROGAN: Yes. Just a few issues,
19	and I'll guess I'll pick up where Councilman
20	Wechsler left off regarding the paving, a
21	few comments with made about the paving list
22	and I know we have all heard in our travels
23	comments on this road should be paved or 24	this road should be paved. Regarding the 25	list that was publicized, that issue is the tentative list. Those properties or those streets on those lists are not set in stone to be paved and the ones off the list are not set in stone they will not be paved. We did receive notification that a number of the streets on the tentative list are going to be -- are going to receive new water lines this year, I believe this year and next year so the water company will be doing those repairs so they will be taken off the list and other streets will be put on it. You know, sorting through that process to make sure we don't pave a road and then months later it's ripped up, which is a very common complaint that we receive and definitely we want to thank the mayor and especially DPW Director Gallagher for doing their due diligence on that matter and, you know, it's great when you utility can pave the roads for us doing their work and it certainly saves the taxpayers a lot of money.

Also, regarding the paving, there are some streets in the city that have just gone to disrepair because they haven't been maintained and there are others that there are underlying issues as to why the road deteriorates. I know in East Mountain it's a problem with water, some of the same on West Mountain. I know Division Street part of that street is going to be -- is on the proposed paving list, but there is also a water problem on that section of Division Street on West Mountain as well and I think before paving takes place the water problem needs to addressed, and it's deteriorating the road and in the winter it becomes a major hazard when you have a rainstorm and water going across the road and then it freezes. It's dangerous for the people driving and then it destroys the road.

So I think we need to look to make sure that all of the streets that are getting paved don't have other underlying issues that it's going to cause them to be deteriorating within a short time again.

And then two other items, I have a good story I guess to tell. The other day I was driving through -- over to South Side by the viaduct that link South Scranton and West Scranton and I noticed a number of bags sitting there that somebody cleaned it up and I looked and thought it was great. Sure enough, literally a day later I get this message, and I want to read it. It says, "I was told to message you. One of my neighbors told me to reach out to you. I have been cleaning out the West Side Elm Street viaduct, this is my second season. I just completed it on Sunday and DPW picked up the trash on Monday. I was wondering if we could get a $300 litter fine posted or some more police in the area."

He mentioned that there are glass bottles, there are a lot of children walking in the area, and I did speak to the resident, who didn't want his last name mentioned, but Bill from West Side we want to give you a big thank you for everything you have been doing, and I did talk to the mayor regarding the request for the no littering sign, he did inform the DPW to take a look at that, and also there are sidewalks on if you are driving down the right-hand side of the viaduct that haven't 31 been visible in probably 20 years because 1 they are covered in dirt, and that's going 2 3 to be addressed as well for pedestrians in So a big thank you to Bill from 4 this area. 5 West Side for doing this work in this area and making it look great. 3	MR. EVANS: Thank you. A couple of 4	comments on the Pension Boards since they 5	have been in the paper most recently again.

6	It is becoming increasingly clear that past
7	and present or past and current decisions
8	made by Scranton Pension's boards have in 9	many cases not been in the best interest of 10	the city and, of course, the pensions
11	themselves. I think the makeup of the 12	current boards itself lends itself to a lack 13	of financial expertise, independence and an 14	inherent conflict of interest and, quite 15	frankly, if I was an employee of the city of 16	Scranton and this was my pension plan I
17	would be pressing for the most independent
18	and professional people I could find
19	overseeing my pension.
20	Recent reforms across the country
21	have addressed this issue. In San Diego,
22	California, it became apparent that there
23	was an underfunding scandal that may have
24	been caused by too much labor union
25	influence on the pension board resulting in conflicts of interest. Proposition H was placed on the ballot in 2004 and changed the composition of retirement boards from being dominated by union representatives, city administrators and appointees to one with a majority of financial experts. Proposition H passed by a voter referendum with 65 percent of the vote.

In other example in San Jose, California, in 2010 San Jose restructures its pensions boards so that a majority of board members would be independent members of financial and investment expertise as opposed to union and city representatives who have conflicts of interest in determining pension benefits.

These are just two examples of many as to what is taking place across the country. It is time for the administration and its unions to sit down and talk about this issue and if it means giving up some control for the benefit of all then that is what needs to be done. As a councilman who has a fiduciary responsibility to our taxpayers, I also feel that before any

1	assets or sold or leased for the super
2	funding of pensions that this is the
3	conversation that must happen and changes
4	need to be made. That's all I have.
5	MR. MCGOFF: Mr. Gaughan?
6	MR. GAUGHAN: Yes, thank you. First
7	request, Ms. Schumacher, brought up
8	Mr. Amoroso, Mrs. Reed, could we please send 9	a request to the administration to find out
10	who the foundations are that are funding
11	Mr. Amoroso? I had asked months ago if he 12	was still on the job or off the job or what
13	the status was and I never my questions
14	were ignored, so if my colleagues would be
15	in agreement if we could send that request
16	and try to find out what the status of that 17	is. Thank you.
18	The street sweeping schedule has 19	been prepared by the administration for 20	2015. April 7 to April 10 the street
21	sweeper will in the lower West Scranton
22	area, Oram Street to Landis Street,
23	including all streets and avenues, and 24	council will again make a request that the 25	schedule is posted on the city's website as

	35
1	it was last year.
2	I am extremely disappointed in the 3	recent news that the Rockwell Avenue bridge
4	project will be suspended due to the 5	possible contamination of the area. I know
6	how important that bridge is to the 7	residents of North Scranton and the last 8	thing any of us want is for the project to 9	be held up any longer. I understand the 10	anger, frustration and helplessness that
11	those in the effected area are feeling.
12	It's my hope that DEP and PennDOT will work
13	quickly to rectify these issues so the 14	bridge can finally be completed.
15	And I just would like to remind 16	everyone again, Mr. McGoff mentioned it at 17	the beginning of the meeting, that I have 18	invited with my colleagues' support Chris
19	Gulla from the Pennsylvania Housing Alliance
20	is a public caucus at 5:30 next Thursday,
21	April 9, here in council chambers to give a 22	presentation on the land banks. One of the 23	major issues facing Scranton and other 24	municipalities like us are the thousands of 25	blighted or abandoned buildings and homes spread across our city. These properties convey the image of an old and decaying community. While many see these property as eyesores, which they are, leaders of the community should realize that they are untapped assets that provide land for redevelopment. When these eyesores are transferred in a productive reuse it becomes a great opportunity for our community to modernize, revitalize and grow improving the quality of life for all neighbors.

The Pennsylvania Land Bank Act 153 of 2012 authorizes counties and municipalities with populations of 10,000 or more to establish land banks, a flexible 16 tool meant to help strengthen our cities and towns by enabling them to systematically remove problem properties from an endless and frustrating cycle of vacancy, abandonment, and tax foreclosure in return them to productive reuse. One of the major issues is the responsibility of handling the task of vacant and under utilized property which is often spread between redevelopment authorities, municipalities, subdepartments of both, non-profits development corporations and others. Due to legal restraints, lack of expertise and mission creep, which means the tendency for a tax to become unintentionally wider in scope than its initial objectives, the problematic properties become in essence no one's responsibility.

Council has invited Mayor

Courtright, members of his administration, the Lackawanna County Commissioners, Senator Blake, State Representatives Flynn and Farina and other members of local government to be a part of this presentation next week. It's clear to me after researching land banks and speaking to many residents over the past year and a half that this is a tool the City of Scranton should use to battle blight in our neighborhoods. We need all elected officials to work together to put this tool to use. And that is all I have for this week. Thank you.

MR. MCGOFF: Thank you. Again, very briefly, there was -- I was reminded if people have questions for council if you would please put them in writing and give them to the Clerk's Office it will allow for council members to provide a better response, we are getting a little old up here and we are forgetful at times, so just put them in writing and that will allow us, you know, Mrs. Reed will send them to the various council members for a response.

A couple of things, first of all, the bid for the audit for the next three years the company that submitted the only bid is a company that has a history of doing audits for municipalities. It is not a -it is an out-of-town company, but they do have a much longer history and more comprehensive history of actually doing municipal audits so it's believed that they would be able to maybe better handle the city's audit and perhaps expedite the production of a final audit. That is one of the things that we are looking at.

Also, it was brought up about a letter that was in the paper or an article in the paper from the Chamber of Commerce concerning the mall. While I do -- while I am friends with Mr. Durkin and appreciate the work that he does, I think the people should realize that the Chamber of Commerce has a vested interest in the mall and what happens with the mall, and personally I felt that that article and the comments from the Chamber of Commerce were somewhat self-serving and maybe did not help or was trying to sort of compete with some other ideas that people may have for the mall. So just be reminded that there are some self-interests involved for anybody speaking on the mall it seems. And the last thing, I know on behalf of council I will say that for all of those of the Judeo-Christian belief we wish
